 A photograph showing several pieces of handmade jewelry made from copper and brass. The pieces include a bracelet with circular patterns, a necklace, and a ring, all displayed against a dark background.	Margot Hartley – Margot Hartley Jewellery Margot commenced her handmade jewellery business in 1986. She uses copper brass, sterling silver, gold, stones and beads, along with authentic Cornish gems. Her inspiration comes from flora architecture and simple form. She works from her own drawings. https://www.margothartleyjewellery.com/
 A photograph of a wax pencil artwork. The artwork depicts a cluster of green leaves with detailed shading and texture, created using various shades of green wax pencils. The pencils are visible in the foreground.	Helen Parrott – From Acorns to Oaks Helen’s work is all about the shapes, forms and colours of nature. She loves using pigment rich, waxy pencils to build up rich layers of colour with careful blending. Helen teaches many forms of mindful flow creative activities. She will be exhibiting her own work and the work of her group ‘Colouring for Calm &amp; Connection’. https://www.fromacornstooaks.co.uk/
 A photograph of a piece of fabric with a hand-drawn print. The print features a pattern of small, dark, stylized figures or shapes on a light background, possibly representing a scene or a collection of objects.	Helen Jones – Boosey and Jones Helen’s work focuses on screen printing fabric, which she uses to make accessories for the home. All her designs are hand drawn, taking inspiration from the countryside and coastline around Cornwall. Helen hand dyes her fabric and block prints. Helen will be showing the process of dyeing fabric on the day. https://www.booseyandjones.co.uk/home
 A photograph of a set of woodturned items. It includes a round platter with a central pedestal holding two small, matching bowls. The items are made of light-colored wood and are displayed on a dark surface.	Mike Poole – Springer Woodturning Mike commences with sourcing wood from a Cornish supplier and devotes as much time as needed to each piece to get the best result he can. Mike produces bowls, platter, pepper mills, vases, light pulls etc, some being functional and others for the joy of making them.
